FOR GOVERNORVirginia Lines Up Firmly with

PLATFORM HAS BEEN PREPARED

Senator Daniel Is at the Head of the Committee.

FREE COINAGE IS CALLED FOR

Not the Slightest Divergence from the Chicago Platform in Any Particular—Edward Echols Was Nominated for Lieutenant Governor.

By Joe Ohi.

Roanoke, Va., August 11.—(Special.)—
"With our platform for 1900 already written—every line of it, every word of it—by the convention at Chicago, and with our leader already determined upon in the matchless Bryan, we have only now to devote ourselves to missionary work."It was this declaration in the speech of Congressman Swanson which called forth the most enthusiastic of all the demonstrations of approval that marked today's convention of the democrats of Virginia.This sentiment reiterated many times and emphasized in every way furnished the keynote to the feeling of the Virginian on the great issue before the American people. If the Maryland platform needed any answer, the Virginia democrats gave it today.In every speech there was emphasized the feeling which impelled the nominations made, the feeling of absolute loyalty to the cause of silver. The whole found crystallization in the platform of principles prepared by the committee over which Senator Daniel presided and which has as its basis an emphatic endorsement of the cause of silver restoration and of the Chicago platform in its entirety. This platform will be adopted tomorrow morning. Special emphasis is laid upon the four great demands of that platform:For a tariff for revenue in the language of the Chicago platform.
For an income tax and a constitutional amendment, if it is necessary, in the accomplishment of that end.
For the complete regulation of trusts and combines. For the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of other nations.On these points the platform reads as follows:
"We reaffirm the platform of the democratic national convention adopted at Chicago in July, 1896, and upon which William Jennings Bryan was nominated for president of the United States, and we extend our congratulations to a noble champion upon the able and brilliant manner in which he discharged his trust. The fact that he received more votes than any previous democratic candidate for the presidency and more than any candidate of any party, barring alone his successful opponent, is evidence that democratic principles are still dear to a vast mass of the American people and that democracy is living in the hope of an early and complete triumph. We especially endorse the doctrines of the national democratic party upon the four great issues which are before this country, viz: The tariff, the income tax, the regulating of trusts and the currency. Tariff duties should be levied for revenue purposes and only for so much revenue as may be needed for an economic administration of the government. Upon the subject of currency, we declare our unwavering adherence to the gold and silver system of monometallism which has aggravated that empire at the expense of the material and the financial servitude to London.
It is not only un-American, but anti-American, and it can be fastened on the United States only by the stigma of a national disgrace. We demand an unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation."Democratic in Every Detail.
The platform calls for the repeal of the 10 per cent tax on state issues, and then goes on to state that the committee adopted a resolution providing for the nomination of United States senators in the primaries. Details of the plan are gone into at some length. It is an elaboration of the South Carolina plan.In every detail the platform is democratic. The convention is intensely, absolutely, enthusiastically for free silver, and the nomination of Major Tyler means, as my dispatches of Virginia prefer a straightforward silver man, rather than one who has, at any time since the contest for a rectification of the mistakes of 1892 been, favored a straddle or has been on the gold side. The verdict is unmistakable.
There is no other explanation that can be given Tyler's victory over Ellyson.
There have been the usual conventionThe opera house, where the convention assembled, had as its chief decorations great pictures of Bryan and Jefferson. It was filled to overflowing with delegates.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER KILLED

Were Walking on a Railroad Trestle in North Carolina.Charlotte, N. C., August 11.—Mrs. Tolar and her twelve-year-old daughter were run over and killed on a trestle at Red Springs today by the train from Fayetteville.The mother was trying to rescue the girl, who got her feet hung as she was about to jump off. The mother was on the point of jumping but stopped and remained with the child.The train knocked the mother off the trestle, while the little girl's body was cut up into fragments, half the body dropping through the cross-ties into the stream below.

LEFT WITH BROTHER-IN-LAW

Elopement of a Young Married Woman in Tennessee.Chattanooga, Tenn., August 11.—(Special.)— Blountville, county seat of Sullivan county, Tennessee, is all torn up over a sensational elopement that has just been made public. Four months ago Miss Rowena Rosen, an attractive young lady belonging to a good family, was married to Ambrose Collins, a mechanic. They seemed very much devoted to each other and beganhousekeeping under auspicious circumstances. For the first week their married life was the happiest, but when Milton Mc-Crary, brother-in-law of Mrs. Collins, entered the home trouble began. McCrary is handsome and Mrs. Collins became infatuated with him. The husband suspected nothing wrong.Monday Collins was fishing. When he returned a few hours later his home was deserted. On the bed was a banjo, the wedding gift of the husband to his bride.
Tied to the banjo was a lock of hair and a note from Mrs. Collins stating that she had gone with a handsome man, and she hoped to meet her husband in heaven if never again in this world.Inquiry developed that Mrs. Collins and McCrary had eloped. Collins sought the law to recover his wife, but she has not been located.

CHARGED WITH TAKING MONEY.

Arrest of a Paying Teller in New York.New York, August 11.—Louis E. Roscoe, paying teller of the Bedford bank of Brooklyn, was arrested today charged with stealing $4,000, the complainant being the proprietor of the bank, Eugene Black-ford.Roscoe admitted his thefts and stated that his downfall was due to his fondness for the race. He had been given to Hanna McCrary, a niece of General John M. Palmer, of Illinois.

HICKS WINGED BOTH OF THEM.

Combat in Which a Man Downed His Adversaries.Longview, Tex., August 11.—At Forest home, four miles east of Kilgore, a difficult fight occurred between Joe Hicks, on the one side, and J. H. Meadows and Major Watson on the other, in which Meadows was shot and instantly killed and Watson mortally wounded.

Hicks is at large.

THEY ARE SUBJECT TO DUTY.

Goods of a Foreign Country Imported Through Canada.Washington, August 11.—The attorney general, in an opinion to the secretary of the treasury, rendered today, decides that goods, the production of a foreign country not contiguous to the United States, which are regularly imported into Canada and afterwards exported to the United States, are subject to the discriminating duty of 10 per cent provided for in section 22 of the new tariff act, and also that the method of conveyance, whether by water, rail or otherwise, is not material.The question whether goods transported through Canada to the United States under consular seal are subject to the duty has not yet been determined.The case in point was that of $90,000 worth of diamonds which were detained at one of the frontier customs houses until this question was decided.The diamonds are subject to the 10 per cent duty.

ALL OBJECTIONS ARE OVERCOME.

ceived by the Greater Republic.Washington, August 11.—It has been intimated that as a result of the correspondence which has been had on the subject
the state department has so far succeeded in meeting the objections which were made by the greater republic of Central America

a manner so emphatic as to leave no

He was Nominated Yesterday by the Democracy of the Old Dominion State to Lead the Forces in the Gubernatorial Campaign. He Is for Free Silver and for Every Doctrine of True Democracy.The report of the committee on rules and order of business brought out a sensation.
The report provided that no speech should exceed five minutes, regardless of the subject discussed. Several delegates immediately joined in a protest against this provision, claiming that it was contrary to the fundamental principle of the people's party,
and an amendment was offered to strike out this obnoxious section. Finally Peter Witt, of Cleveland, secured recognition from Chairman Seitz and mounting a chair, proceeded to denounce the committee making the report and asserted that the convention had been bought out by Mark Hanna. As Witt waved aloft in his hand a piece of paper which he claimed was a check that had been given to Hanna
by the delegates by an agent of Mark Hanna he launched into a bitter invective against the anti-fusionists, charging that all of them had been corrupted by Hanna money. A score of delegates were on their feet in an instant, crowding around the chair on which Witt stood. When one of the delegates attempted to pull Witt off the chair the latter struck at the delegate and a general melee ensued. Several blows were exchanged and chairs were raised aloft in a threatening manner. A policeman who was present rushed in and interrupted the hostilities and a few minutes later a platoon of police reached the convention hall and the convention proceeded after quiet had been restored, with a blue coat on guard in each aisle. The police remained until the convention took a final adjournment.The report of committee on rules was adopted.
The convention then effected permanent organization, Temporary Chairman John Seitz, of Tiffin, and Temporary Secretary Lightwelder, of New Philadelphia, being made permanent officers.The resolutions adopted reaffirmed the populist platform adopted by the Omaha and St. Louis conventions of the party, and took issue on several matters of local importance.At the afternoon session the following state ticket was nominated:
For governor, Jacob Coxey, Starke county;
lieutenant governor, Morris Whitcomb, Pomeroy; attorney general, E. C. Bodenry; county clerk, C. A. Bodden; Wayne county, state treasurer, F. M.
Morris, Auglaize county.The convention remained in session until after 6 o'clock, awaiting the report of the investigating committee, but it was not received, and the convention adjourned sine die, with the understanding that the committee would report to the state central committee.

Quarantine Grounds.Brunswick, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)—It has been heralded in the Savannah newspapers that Dr. LeHardy, health officer of that port, was en route to Brunswick for the purpose of inspecting Brunswick's quarantine. If Dr. LeHardy sets foot on the Brunswick quarantine grounds for inspection or any other purposes he will be taken in charge, isolated, his clothing fumigated and himself detained for five days. The same treatment will be accorded him as to any civilian who trespasses on these grounds.
Quarantine Surgeon Burford so announced his intention to your correspondent this afternoon and he will keep his word.The Brunswick quarantine is here for business, and not to be inspected at the will of any one. Dr. LeHardy can bring contagious disease into this port as well as an ordinary sailor.As to the suggestion that he might come armed with a permit from Surgeon General Wyman, Surgeon Burford stated that such was a remote possibility. If such permission were given the officer in charge would have been notified of it before now.A member of the marine hospital service

CHECK FOR COOL TWO MILLION.

This Was Used in Transfer of Glucose Company.Peoria, Ill., August 11.—The injunction which stood in the way of the new glucose combination by restraining the sale of the American Glucose Company, of this city, was dissolved this afternoon, and the transfer took place immediately, a certified check for over two million dollars being passed in order to forestall any similar attempts at complication.All the options on the other glucose plants were still pending. It was part of the agreement that it should be void unless all the plants went into the combination,
but the papers passed as soon as the news of the decision was reported.The application for a dissolution of the injunction was argued all day, and was granted by the court without comment.
Mr. Harding, who secured the injunction, says he will continue the fight.

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt to Secretary of the New York navy yard last May,

which has just been made public, makes some entertaining reading as to navy yard methods, new and old.Mr. Roosevelt is unimpaired in his condemnation of the old style of appointments in navy yards and he cites the case of the furniture of the monitor Terror, which has been ten years in the making and cost as much as $400 for a single bureau, ten times the actual value of the thing, solely because incompetent men appointed for political reasons were employed at the job.

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN

Will Christ Return After or Before the

WHAT LEADING DIVINES THINK OF IT

The Conference Formally Opened Last Night—Today's Programme—The Work of Organization.

By L. L. Knight.

Toccoa, Ga., August 11.—(Special Staff Correspondence.)—Georgia has seldom wit-nessed a more impressive religious gathering than the one which formally convened at 8 o'clock tonight in this remote and breezy corner of the state to discuss the second coming of Christ.The gathering is composed exclusively of Presbyterian divines who belong to the southern general assembly, and among the delegates who are slated to take a leading part in the proceedings, are some of the most distinguished and influential men of thought in the southern pulpit. Tonight's session was given mainly to the opening sermon of the conference by Dr.
T. M. McConnell, of Greenville, S. C. He discussed the relation existing between Christ and the church.The practical work of the conference will begin with tomorrow's session.
Concerning the work of this conference and the peculiar views of those who constitute the personnel there is widespread interest throughout the south just at this time. Every denomination of the Christian church shares it in some degree, and is curious to know what stand the Toccoa conference will take in the matter. This remains to be seen.With reference to the second coming of Christ the Presbyterian standards have little to say beyond the bare recognition of the faith that Christ is to return to the earth in glorious majesty at some time in the future. As to whether he will come in person and reign during the millennium or wait until the millennium is over and then come, the standards are wholly non-committal. Either of these views may be entertained by members of the Presbyterian church without exposing themselves to charges of heresy.Those who adhere to the view that Christ is to come in person and reign during the millennium or one thousand years of peace, are termed pre-millennialists, while those who adhere to the view that Christ is not to come until after the millennium is over and the world perfectly subdued unto him, are termed post-millennialists. As the Presbyterian standards are non-committal on this point, either of these views with respect to Christ's second coming is strictly orthodox.What "Pre-Millennial" Means.
Most of the Presbyterian divines attending the Toccoa conference hold to the premillennial theory of Christ's return. In view of this fact it is well to note the gradual evolution and expansion of this theory.From one of the leading divines attending the conference it is learned that the first pre-millennial gathering ever held in the United States was held in the church of the Holy Trinity, New York city, in the fall of 1873. Three members of that conference from the southern Presbyterian church, viz. Rev. H. W. Peizer, Rev. William Dinwiddie and Rev. J. F. Cannon, prepared a declaration of principles which embraced, in brief, the following heads:
1. We affirm our belief in the supreme and absolute authority of the written word ofbeing the only one in existence in the east.
Here the celestialists will be at liberty to indulge in all their native rites, a privilege which has been denied them heretofore by the local cemetery authorities.The requests for help are away in excess of the means to respond. In many homes there is nothing but dry bread to eat, and in some cases not even this.Arrangements are being made for a big labor meeting in McKee's port Saturday evening, which all the striking miners in the Turtle Creek and Monongahela valleys are expected to attend.

LIGHTNING STRIKES BREWERY.

Damage Done Large New Orleans
Manufactory.New Orleans, La., August 11.—A bolt of lightning this morning did considerable damage at the American brewery.It struck the brick work of two immense batteries of boilers, by which the machinery of the plant is operated, and almost completely destroyed it. One of the boilers was undermined and fell to the ground. The other boiler was not so badly damaged. Dan Marson was scalded by escaping steam and may die. Pat Maher, a laborer, was struck by a brick.The accident was one of the most peculiar that have ever happened in the city.

HEAVY VERDICT FOR DAMAGES.

Fireman Injured in Collision Awarded $18,000 by a Jury.Savannah, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)— S. L. Caldwell, who was a fireman on the Plant system, was given a verdict for $18,000 in the city court today as damages for personal injuries. This is the largest verdict against a corporation for personal injuries ever known in Chatham county.Caldwell was injured in the southern part of Florida last February in a collision of his train with a box car standing on the main line. He claimed to have been totally incapacitated for work, and sued for $20,000.
The case will go to the supreme court.POPE BROWN GETS

By P. J. Moran.

Savannah, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)—
In the Tybee hotel pavilion overlooking the Atlantic breakers sat two men this morning. The one, Fleming duBignon, a clear-cut lawyer who aspires to the political confidence of the farmers, and the other, J. Pope Brown, the ambitious president of the Georgia Agricultural Society, who is also in the race.An interested crowd of onlookers watched their movements and commented variously upon their chances."Why the people should connect my name with politics," said Mr. Brown, "I do not understand. I have no political aspiration and have given no indication that I want the people to consider my name. A gentleman came to me one day and said: 'Brown, you should either announce for the governorship, the com-missionership of agriculture or for congress.' Why people should thus approach me, I do not know.""Except on the principle of natural selection," a listener interposed.
"I am not vain as to think that,"
said Mr. Brown.Just a few feet away Mr. duBignon was recognizing delegates, when, espousing Colonel Wright, he said:
"Here comes Colonel Wright, who moved from Washington county to the coast to escape politics, as I did from Baldwin;
he is to be drawn back into the pool again,
by Effingham county as I was by Chatham."And the two victorious middle Georgia statesmen clasped hands as they thought of their mutual migration and its after effect.Avoided the Agricultural Fund.
I asked President Brown why he was not in the race for the agricultural fund now held by the university and which is under discussion on his motion."I deemed that a reference to the subject on my part would be improper," said he, "inasmuch as I am chairman of the joint committee having the matter in charge. I moved for the appointment of that committee because I felt that the great agricultural interest deserved that much attention at our hands.""Almost 90 per cent of the wealth of the United States is based purely upon agriculture and when we consider the state government it may be said that in the last analysis its entire revenue comes from the land. It was in recognition of this vast and overpowering interest that the federal government provided the funds under dispute. The same agreement which upholds the connection of the agricultural college with the university has just as much force when applied to the school of technology, and yet the very university advocates who fight a separate agricultural college favored the separate technological school, but perhaps we should not expect too much consistency in human actions.""I say let the agricultural college go where it will work the most good, and if the two students whom Dr. Huncutt acknowledges as the fruitage for one year are sufficient reward, all right. I found in Mississippi that the best results have followed the establishment of the separate agricultural college there and Colonel Orr, for twenty-six years a trustee of the State university, speaks in the highest praise of it. The committee investigating went fully into the inefficiency of the agricultural department of the university. The scandalous condition of the farmer is not disputed. As I could get no reply to the question as to why it was kept up, it has been suggested that it was kept up merely as a cloak under which the fund could be drawn.""The spectacle of Professor Munncutt and his two agricultural students is calculated to make even a dyspeptic laugh."
"However, I cannot go into the matter fully, as the committee has not yet made up its report, which will probably be a divided one. When the legislature meets the whole question will be fully aired, and then the people of Georgia will be able to pass judgment upon it.""Do you not know," said he, "that even the cities of Georgia do not represent an interest divorced from the farm. The farmers have furnished the credit upon which the whole question will be fully aired, and
then the people of Georgia will be able to pass judgment upon it."The farmers have furnished the credit upon which the whole question will be fully aired, and

TYLER IS NAMED FOR GOVERNOR

Virginia Lines Up Firmly with the True Democracy.

With but little room for spectators, a Virginia election is an unenviable affair, and tonight at some of the secondary stages of the proceedings it became particularly so in a good-natured way.

During the many nominating and seconding speeches which came in connection with the lieutenant governorship, the crowd grew tired and impatient, and the presiding officer had great difficulty in getting order out of the confusion. All this came, however, after the star event of the occasion—the unanimous nomination of Major Tyler for the governorship.

The convention began its sessions at noon, and had an afternoon session, but nothing was accomplished until tonight, because of some complicated fights before the committee on credentials.

A Burst of Business Speed.

That it did not take long to get down to business tonight.

As soon as the editorial preliminaries were disposed of, Editor Carter Glass, of Lynchburg, mounted the platform. His appearance was the signal for a great demonstration of naming the winner. Glass is by the way, looking and eloquent. His speech was as pretty a bit of appropriate oratory as ever a Virginia convention heard, and that you know is saying a great deal.

After one seconding speech had been made, Colonel Elliott went to the front of the stage and there was all kinds of applause. In a straightforward, loud speech he moved to make Tyler's nomination unanimous.

The convention thereupon gave hysterical and Elliott could have had anything it had to give, except, of course, the one thing he wanted most.

Tyler's nomination was made by acclamation. While the committee was out after him, somebody yelled Senator Daniel back on the stage, and that was the signal for such a demonstration a few men get. The admiration of Virginians for Daniel is very much akin to worship. There were calls for him everywhere, but he would say no more than a few words, in stating, as he said, "I am assuming the properties and not stealing any of the nominees' thunder."

In a short while Tyler came and made a many speech of thanks and pledges. Glass had in his speech made a great bit by declaring that his man would not only see into the governorship as a democrat, but would stay a democrat.

This hit at the renegade, O'Ferrall, carried the convention off its feet in the demonstrations of joy, and Tyler, modestly reviewing his own fidelity to silver from the first, pledged himself to make good Glass's prophecy. The nominee made a good speech and will prove a capital candidate; he is strong in himself and the people of the state know he is worthy of their trust and confidence.

Fight Over Lieutenant Governorship.
The turmoil over the lieutenant governorship was due to two causes. One of these was the large number of candidates and the multitude of admiring friends who were given leeway to sing their praises. The other was the candidacy of Captain Cooke, who came before the convention as the populist nominee.

The great majority of the populists in the state voted for the Bryan electors in November, and there is a strong sentiment favorable to some sort of coalition.

If Cooke had come before the convention with the assurance that whatever might be the result, he would be the other candidate aside by the decision of the convention, he would doubtless have received the nomination, but there was nobody authorized to make any such statement for him.

There was much discussion over this question and a lot of confusion, owing to the slowness of the chairman in handling the talkers.

The first ballot resulted in no choice.

On the second there was confusion that paled into insignificance all the turmoil which had gone before.

The rules permitted as many changes in the votes of a delegation as he chose to make.

In the midst of the confusion it became apparent that Cooke, of Norfolk, had a good majority. One of his friends moved to make his nomination unanimous. That started more turmoil, which resulted in a recall of the roll. The enthusiastic friends of Mr. Cooke his nomination.

LATER—2:30 a. m.—(Special)—The final count of the second ballot showed the nomination of Edward Echols. This brought another kick and a call for a verification, which was ordered. It was then past 2 o'clock, and the call progressed with much confusion. Echols was declared the nominee, and the convention adjourned until later this morning at 10 o'clock.

GRIFITH HAD A BIG MAJORITY.

Democrat Elected in Fourth Indiana District.

Indianapolis, August 11.—The majority of Griffith, democrat, over Lee, republican, in the special election for congress in the fourth district of Indiana was 1,152. Holman's majority last November was 825.

The populists had no candidate against Holman, but M. W. Browder was their candidate this year. He received about 600 votes.

MAYFIELD TO RETIRE FROM RACE

Will Leave the Fight to the Other Candidates.

Columbia, S. C., August 11.—(Special)—Information tonight is that R. G. Mayfield, who has been running for the senate on an anti-dispersary platform, will tomorrow draw out of the race, leaving McLaurin, Evans and Irbys as the three active candidates.

NO PREDICTIONS ARE MADE

Senatorial Race in South Carolina Is Extremely Uncertain.

Irbys, Evans and Duncan Have Combined Against McLaurin, Who Was the Favorite.

THERE MAY BE SECOND ELECTION

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 11.—(Special)—There is a good deal of fluttering going on as to the result of the primary on August 21st for senator, and it is seldom that a result has been so uncertain.

Three days before the opening of the primary it seemed as if McLaurin would have a walkover, but there has been a considerable change since then. The field—Irbys, Evans and Duncan—has been united, and they are all against McLaurin. A constant fire has been kept up against him at his tariff views, with immense jabs on his record, and the result of the election is now extremely uncertain.

The crowds, with very few exceptions, have been undemonstrative, many of the county parties are keeping in the middle of the road, unable to pick the winner, so that the result of the election is now extremely uncertain. It is expected that the vote will be pretty close, a second primary being probable, and Charleston's vote is a very important factor. But it is reported that a great many voters there are without proper receipts, necessary to entitle them to vote, while many others take no interest in the result, looking on at the candidates with the same light indifference. Polltakers are always ready to give the election to the party last winter, when the tax was due, many neglected to pay, not expecting an election, and now, when the tax is due, they are not up to the candidates and the local politicians are not interested. There are hundreds of men who are not affected by the polltax matter who will be absent on business, and many others who will be absent on business, and many others who will be absent on business.

Some of the principal topics to be discussed during the conference are as follows:

"The Second Coming of Christ—Personal"—Rev. J. F. Buchanan, D.D., Chattanooga, Tenn.

"The Second Coming of Christ—Pre-Millennial"—Rev. R. C. Reed, D.D., Nashville, Tenn.

Manages Savannah Theater.

Savannah, Ga., August 11.—(Special)—Mr. David Wells, son of Treasurer A. Wells, of the Greenwald Theatrical Circuit Company, has been appointed manager of the Savannah theater and will take charge at once. It was expected that the position would be given to Mr. J. C. Shaw, a well-known railroad and theatrical man, whom Savannah people wanted to see in charge, but Mr. Shaw refused to accept the salary offered.

HIGHEST TEMPERATURE WAS 84.

Warm Weather Seems To Be Heading This Way Again.

The thermometer was relatively high last night in the Missouri valley, but it was below the normal in all other districts covered by reports. The lowest thermometer reported from New York and the highest from Nebraska and South Dakota. The temperature changed, but little during the twenty-four hours, but it is rising in the northwest. There was an extremely high temperature reported from any section.

Generally clear weather prevailed in the northwest, but there was considerable cloudiness in the cotton belt and in districts to the east of the Mississippi. Light showers occurred along the south Atlantic coast and in the east gulf states.

The Dreadful

continued to spread in the treatment but now they are a wonderful work.

Many years I have been a sufferer from various veins on one of my feet and it has become almost unbearable. When I was up I could feel the blood rushing down the veins of my leg. One day I accidentally hit my leg with a hammer and a small object and a small object continued to spread and it was very painful. I concluded that the blood purifier and I began taking Sarsaparilla. In a short time the sufferable sores which had been on my leg, began to heal. I was able to walk in a short time my leg was healed and the sores gave me no pain. I cannot be too thankful for the wonderful work of Sarsaparilla. It has done for me. Mrs. A. R. Harland, Vermont.

RODE ON TANDEM TO HIS WEDDING

Champion Walthour Romantically Weds Miss Blanche Cooleidge.

IT TOOK PLACE AT DECATUR They Rode There on a Tandem and Procured the License.

CUPID AND THE CHAMPION ON WHEELS

Wedding Was a Surprise to Friends and Was Without Their Knowledge—Couple Congratulated.

A most romantic marriage occurred in the quiet little town of Decatur at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Miss Blanche Cooleidge was married to Mr. Bob Walthour, the champion bicycle rider of the south.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. McKelvey, of the Methodist church. The only witness present was Mr. Zeus Field, who accompanied them from Atlanta. The bride and groom rode out on a tandem to Decatur, and the best man on a bicycle. The ceremony they returned immediately to Atlanta.

About 4 o'clock a large number of farmers were gathered around the courthouse attendant upon the present term of the court. Some of them were playing checkers and others were discussing the probability of a large crop, when they were all started to see rapidly approaching a bicycle party.

The bicyclists came at a rapid rate, and immediately something was suspected by the sturdy tillers of the soil, when the party stopped in front of the courthouse and went quickly into the ordinary office. Some were tempted to follow, but were restrained by the slam of the office door, which was thoughtfully done by the best man.

"I want a marriage license," said Mr. Walthour, and a smile played over his face, while that of the pretty bride took on an added rosy hue. The long ride from Atlanta had made her radiant, but the confusion and the strange sounding words made her glorious.

"All right, sir," replied Ragsdale, without the least surprise, as he said afterwards he knew that was coming. The license was written out in the best of hands, and with many do-urbies as he cast his eye at the bride-elect.

Eagerly the groom took the needed paper, and paying the fee, a rush was made for the wheels. The bride jumped lightly into the saddle of the tandem with the groom behind, and they started off in a speck toward Rev. Mr. McKelvey's.

Mr. Field went rapidly in front of the happy pair and prepared things with the minister for the approaching event.

When they arrived at the home of Mr. McKelvey he joined them together in his best words and then they turned and rode back to Atlanta on a "bicycle built for two."

As they returned through the little town and back by the courthouse, an old farmer said, "Hit 'er runaway by gosh," and they all set out to talk about their young days.

The bride is well known in the city, and is a beautiful blonde. Mr. Walthour is one of the fastest bicycle riders in the south, having won the championship of the south at the recent coliseum races. He is well known over the country for his fast records.

It is said that through his superb riding he won his bride. It was during the late races that she would go out to each one of them and accept a box reserved solely for her by her Romeo, and there she would revel in his successes and despair at his defeat. When the final heat was to be made in his race she would from frenzied excitement rise from her seat and cheer her favorite with the greatest gusto. And he, when passing the box wherein she sat, would gather new inspiration at each lap of the race.

The ceremony will be a surprise to their many friends, and is quite a romantic affair, as they were only on a pleasure ride when they thought struck them, and being nearer Decatur than Atlanta at the time, they proceeded thence and became one.

Miss Cooleidge is quite young and vivacious, being only about sixteen years of age, but as it is a family institution to run off and get married, her sister and several other members of the family have done the same, she thought it wise not to break the family traditions. The happy pair confessed to Mrs. Cooleidge late last night and were forgiven and taken under the parental roof.

Mr. and Mrs. Walthour will take an extended tour to the north, where Mr. Walthour will add new laurels to his already magnificent record as a racer.

SAYS HER UNCLE ASSAULTED HER

A Sensational Story Involving Some Good Families.

L. K. BARRON IS ARRESTED

WHAT HE HAS TO SAY ABOUT THE CASE

Barron, the Man Charged with the Assault, Lives at Thomaston—He Is a Prominent Man.

A very lively sensation has come to light which will probably give rise to a criminal prosecution and a lawsuit involving two well-known families in Atlanta and Thomaston, Ga.

Mr. S. W. Turner, a member of the Atlanta police force, charges his brother-in-law, S. K. Barron, of Thomaston, with taking liberties with his (Turner's) fourteen-year-old daughter.

The criminal prosecution will be based upon a charge of assault. The story is a sensational one, as Mr. Turner is a well-known citizen and a man of excellent character, and Barron, a prominent merchant and farmer of Thomaston. The fact that Barron is the girl's uncle by marriage makes the case of rather a startling nature.

Last night a reporter of The Constitution called at the residence of Mr. Turner, 412 Fraser street, and asked him about the report. He said that it was true, but he had hoped it would not be published.

The father tells the story. "I believe, however," said Mr. Turner, "that the matter will eventually get into the newspapers, and I will tell you how that fellow acted toward my innocent little girl. She was to visit her aunt, who was my wife's sister, at Thomaston. Barron attempted to take advantage of her, and the matter was at first kept from me. He repeated his lewd and improper conduct, and when my child returned home last Saturday I for the first time heard the awful news. I went to Thomaston for the purpose of shooting the scoundrel, but was prevailed upon to let the law take its course. I immediately swore out a warrant against Barron for an assault with intent to rape. He was arrested Monday he gave bond, and he returned to me and wanted to compromise the matter. I was persuaded to leave Thomaston at once, and did so. The matter has been a terrible blow to me and my family."

What the lawyer says. Mr. W. C. Giam was seen at his room in the Kimball house, and he made the following statement:

"I have been employed to prosecute Barron for the assault he made upon Mr. Turner's daughter. I have not investigated the case fully, and know nothing of the details of the matter. I will give it my attention later on."

The case promises to be of quite a sensational nature when it comes up for final adjustment in the courts.

BILL FILED IN HUNTSVILLE.

Petition Asking for Receivership of Southern B. & L. Put In.

The bill asking for a receiver of the Southern B. & L. Association of Huntsville, Ala., was filed with the clerk of the federal court at that city yesterday afternoon. The bill is a petition for the appointment of a receiver of the association, and is signed by the creditors of the association.

Mr. Marlon Harris, who has been conducting the business of the association, is the defendant in the bill. The bill is signed by the creditors of the association, and is filed in the federal court at Huntsville, Ala.

The association claims solvency and denies any one to examine its books and find any crookedness. The bill is signed by the creditors of the association, and is filed in the federal court at Huntsville, Ala.

What President Kelly says. President J. A. Kelly, who is at the head of the association, was seen yesterday afternoon. He was at first reluctant to talk, and would say nothing either contradictory or corroborative of the charge.

"I prefer to have nothing to say," he said, "upon the question. Our dealings are not to be discussed and known to everybody."

"Is the organization of a secret nature?" was asked. "No, not exactly. I mean that we are not bound to let everybody know what we do."

After hesitating for some time the president said: "I do not mind saying that the report is false in every sense. We are not organized to protect prices. Our purpose is for the mutual benefit of the salesmen. Our membership is not limited to employees of wholesale grocers. Any salesman in the city is eligible. We wish to prevent the big discounts and dirty work that might occur if the salesmen did not know and have perfect confidence in each other. Since our organization began there has existed a more friendly spirit among the salesmen and it has been easier for them to work than it was before when each man suspected the other. As to the organization being a trust, I have no desire to discuss that. What we do is not directly beneficial to the heads of the firms. The salesmen are the men who get everything out of it. No, we are not a trust, and the accusation is foolish."

Denial of J. E. Maddox. Mr. J. E. Maddox was seen.

"I am not a member of the association," he said. "I believe that the employees of our firm are, and therefore I have had some observation of the workings of the association. I do not believe that it has affected prices. It is folly to call it a trust. Since its organization prices have gone up, but this has been due to the general condition of the market, and to no influence of the Salesmen's Association. Other officers of the association give the report strong and emphatic denial, but the charge has been made, and those who are fighting it will come out, it is said, in a conspicuous way soon."

MAJOR CULVER FILLS VACANCIES

His Son and Grandson Temporarily Serves in Them.

Montgomery, Ala., August 11.—(Special.)—Major Culver, commissioner of agriculture, has appointed his grandson, F. S. Sisson, of Union Springs, temporarily, at least, to a place in his office. The chief clerkship, which was left vacant by the death of young Sisson's father last week, is being temporarily filled by Major Culver's other clerk, his son Roger.

Auditor White has appointed Mr. Charles F. Hogue, of Marion, to a temporary clerkship in his department.

IS THIS A BIG LOCAL TRUST?

Charge Made That City Salesmen's Association Is Illegal.

OFFICERS ALL LAUGH AT IT

Host at the Idea of the Organization Being a Trust.

PRESIDENT KELLY DECLARES IT FALSE

Tells How the Association Works and Says It Was Organized for the Mutual Protection of the City Men—What He Said.

Is the organization of the City Salesmen's Association illegal? The charge has been made, and it is said that there are those who are inimical to the association, and who are trying to prove that it is in violation of the trust law passed at the last session of the legislature.

These say that instead of an organization as purported to be for the benefit of the salesmen, it is, in effect, a local trust, a subterfuge for the original compact between the dealers for the control of prices. This statement is strongly denied by the officers and members of the order. They show that the association in no wise affects the fluctuation of prices of any commodity, and that its mission is for the mutual benefit of all the salesmen of every branch.

They host at the idea of its being a trust, and stoutly deny if they desired they would not control and fix prices according to trust methods.

The association of city salesmen is one of the most flourishing orders in the city. It was organized last April, and was made up of the best known local salesmen connected with the wholesale houses in Atlanta, and the members of the association are now in the city.

OTHER SCOUNDREL HAD LEFT FOR HOME

Father Returns with His Daughter and Both Men Are Now in Jail Awaiting Trial.

Franklin, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)—John West, a farmer of Enon district, came to town yesterday with a winchesetter on his shoulder. He inquired for the sheriff. He had caused the arrest of Dennis Bearden and a Mr. West, charging them with kidnapping his fifteen-year-old daughter. The accused parties were located in Carroll county and placed in jail there.

The angry father says that on last Sunday he was out in the field, and when he returned he found his daughter missing. He immediately started a search, and after a long time he found her in a schoolhouse. The father returned with his daughter and both men are now in jail awaiting trial.

As soon as West learned that the men had run away with his daughter, he at once went to Carrollton and swore out a warrant for them. In company with an officer he started on a hunt for the pair. Dennis Bearden was found in a schoolhouse, and the father returned with his daughter and both men are now in jail awaiting trial.

Miss West claims that she was carried to the schoolhouse under false statements of the men. After they had arrived there, she was terrified over her imprisonment and pleaded with the men to take her home, but they would not do so. Deputy Sheriff Stephens, of this county, went to Carrollton yesterday to bring the prisoners to Heard county jail, where they will await the action of the jury.

There is considerable indignation over the affair, and no doubt the kidnappers will be punished to the law's full extent.

KELLAR'S FRIENDS SURPRISED.

Thought He Was Sure To Be Granted a New Trial.

Savannah, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)—Frederick Kellar, who was sentenced to the state prison for a term of five years for the murder of a woman, was surprised yesterday when he was informed that he had been granted a new trial.

The progress of Kellar's trial, which was fully noted in these dispatches, was of the nature of a surprise. Kellar was granted a new trial, and he was surprised when he was informed that he had been granted a new trial.

It was thought that Kellar would be granted a new trial, and he was surprised when he was informed that he had been granted a new trial.

When the Jail Was Stormed and Mob Found They Had Been Outwitted All Prisoners Were Released.

Asheville, N. C., August 11.—Bob Brachett, the assailant of Miss Kittie Henderson, was lynched this afternoon. As announced in an Associated Press dispatch last night, a mob broke into the jail at this place and commenced to batter down the steel doors that led to the cells.

The doors soon yielded and it was then discovered that Brachett had been spirited away by the officers. All the other prisoners in the jail were liberated.

Pursuit of the officers was at once commenced and a crowd caught up with them at Terrell station, on the Southern railway, eighteen miles east of Asheville, early this morning. Brachett was taken from his protectors, but the mob could not agree as to the disposition

BOTH GUILTY OF
HUNT'S MURDER

Bud Brooks and Grady Reynolds
Are Convicted.

THE TWO TRIALS WERE BRIEF

Sentence of Death Will Be Pronounced
This Morning.

PRISONERS TREMBLE AT THEIR FATE

Verdict in Both Cases Yesterday Convicted the Murderers Without a Recommendation to the Mercy of the Court—News
of the Trial.

Bud Brooks and Grady Reynolds, the murders of M. C. Hunt, were found guilty yesterday and will be sentenced today to hang for their crime.

Neither of the juries recommended the prisoners to the mercy of the court and the gallows will avenge the death of the peaceful old merchant of Helton, who was murdered by the conspirators.

The argument in the case of Bud Brooks,
the first of the murderers placed on trial,
was finished Tuesday night. Yesterday morning Judge Hutchins delivered his charge to the jury and in twenty minutes the jurors did out of their room with the verdict in the hands of the foreman.

Ten minutes elapsed and Judge Hutchins called the case of the state against Grady Reynolds, charged with murder. In little more than five hours after he was placed on trial the second jury brought in the verdict that makes Reynolds a victim of the gallows. The jury was out only seventeen minutes.

At 9 o'clock the courtroom was packed.
The majority of those who listened to the trial were citizens of Jefferson and the verdicts met with their approval. A slight murmur was heard in the courtroom
when Solicitor General Wright read the verdict finding Bud Brooks guilty of murder in the first degree.

Only a few of the spectators left the courtroom, as they expected to hear the second conspiracy. Grady Reynolds, receive the same sentence. They were not disappointed. But a few hours had elapsed when the second jury brought in the expected verdict. Silently the spectators walked out of the courtroom, then stood in groups on the public square discussing the dastardly crime that shocked the entire city of Jackson.

Today Judge Hutchins will sentence the two men. Under the findings of the two juries only the death sentence can be imposed. It is probable that the two men will hang on the same day.

Verdict Was Quickly Found.

When court convened yesterday morning and the jury were seated in the box Judge Hutchins delivered his charge. He cited the law on murder and made a brief review of the case of Bud Brooks. His charge throughout was impartial, brief and yet a masterful effort.

The jury filed out and as the door to the jury room closed the court took a recess.
The attorneys in the case gathered around and began to talk on different subjects, never touching the case that was then in the hands of the twelve jurors.

Bud Brooks and Grady Reynolds were both sitting in the courtroom several feet apart. They never once looked at each other while the jurors were in their room.
Brooks would look up at the slightest noise and glance at the door to the room where his fate was being discussed.

Twenty minutes had elapsed when the door to the jury room opened and the foreman announced they had reached a verdict. Brooks leaned forward and turned slightly pale as the twelve men slowly walked out. He tried to read by their faces what their verdict was, but the men kept their eyes on the floor and took their seats. The verdict was handed to the solicitor, who read in a strong voice:
"We, the jury, find the defendant, Bud Brooks, guilty of murder in the first degree."

Not a muscle in the body of Brooks moved. Grady Reynolds, who was watching the proceedings intently, smiled as the verdict was read.

Reynolds' Trial Begins.

Hardly had the sensation the verdict caused relaxed before Judge Hutchins called the case against Grady Reynolds.
Brooks remained in his seat during the trial of his fellow conspirator.

The jurors were called and the following after several had taken their seats in the box, Judge Hutchins read the charge.
He was T. P. Willhite, C. A. Olliver, R. B.
A. B. Newkirk, A. A. Williams, A. A.
James, R. A. Beale, H. P. Waddell, P. K.

As soon as the twelve men took their seats in the box Reynolds was placed on the stand. He was greatly agitated and trembled as he related the horrible story to the court. His statement was the same as he made in his testimony against Bud Brooks yesterday. At the conclusion he said:

"I am sorry I did this," and the murderer broke down and wept.

Judge Hutchins delivered the second charge to the jury on the same line as the first. The lawyers in the case stated that they never heard a more impartial and better charge to a jury and they seemed satisfied that the verdict of the jury was found on the merits of the case.

To those in the courtroom it appeared that the jury room had hardly been dismissed before it was opened again and they announced they had found a verdict. "We,
the jury find the defendant, Grady Reynolds, guilty of murder in the first degree."

Reynolds turned deathly pale as he sat in his chair, and was constantly moving his legs, as if in mortal terror. Brooks sat like a stone statue in a reclining position. He seemed not to hear the verdict that condemned his brother in crime to the same fate that he was to suffer.

The Sentence of Death.

The two prisoners were carried back to Jackson county jail and placed in their separate cells. It is very probable that the death sentence will be passed today.

Colonel Brown, when asked if he would carry the case to the supreme court, said he could not answer, as he had not fully decided. The arguments made by Colonel Brown and Colonel Pike were masterful efforts and although the evidence was black against the conspirators, they worked hard to save their lives. Solicitor General Brand worked hard on the case and wound a chain of evidence around the two men that it was impossible to shake off.

Just what killed old man M. C. Hunt may never be known. In the statement of Reynolds yesterday he said that all three of them were out hunting—Hunt, Brooks and Reynolds—and that Brooks attracted old man Hunt's attention by pointing at a bird, and then struck him in the back of the head with the gun. He says that he hit him three blows, two of them after the old man had fallen to the ground.

Brooks testified that he was nowhere near the spot when the blows were struck. He claimed to have been working in a field
when Reynolds ran up to him and said: "I have almost killed old man Hunt. Come with me quick." He said that he went to where old man Hunt was lying and that he was not quite dead. Reynolds handed him the gun and said: "Here, Bud, finish him."

The qualifying clause providing that the present courthouse is to be used as a per-bly been one of the chief causes of the opposition that has been manifested by certain individuals and it is said that the commissioners will now erase these words, allowing the city to hold the property in

Judge E. B. Rosser, a member of the opinion that if the city will occupy the

T. P. A. PREPARING FOR GRAND OUTING

Central Has Given Them Round Trip Rate of $3.50 to Tybee.

ARRANGEMENTS UNDER WAY

Committee Will Visit Tybee Sunday and Get Things in Shape.

EXPECTED THAT 500 PERSONS WILL GO

Invitations Will Be Issued—Rate Applied to Several Other Cities and Crowds Will Go from There.

The Travelers' Protective Association has begun to make very active preparations for its first annual seaside excursion, which leaves Atlanta for Tybee, Saturday, August 24th, at 8 o'clock.

Yesterday the rate for the round trip was obtained from the Central railroad, and this rate is announced as $3.50.

These at the head of the excursion feel confident that this low round-trip rate and low hotel rates will carry over 500 people to Tybee. The preparations will be continued from now up to the time of departure, and there will not be a single hitch.

The rate obtained from Atlanta will be applied from Newnan, Athens, Griffin, Carrollton and Madison. The tickets will be sold on Saturday, the 21st, for the special train, which will be put on for the Travelers' Protective Association.

After leaving the trains will arrive in Savannah Monday morning, and will remain at Tybee two days, leaving there to return to Atlanta at 7 o'clock Monday evening in time for work.

The committee on arrangements, accompanied by Mr. Robinson of the Central, will go to Tybee next Saturday night and remain over Sunday. They go for the purpose of personally supervising the preparations for the entertainment of the excursionists while they are at the seashore.

The hotel rate that has been tendered the Travelers' Protective Association is $2 per day, and is made for this special occasion. Several musical entertainments will be given. It is understood that the Fifth regiment band will accompany the excursion and furnish music at Tybee.

A special effort will be made to carry on this excursion supplies and necessities in the wholesale and retail goods and grocery stores of the city. For this reason the train will leave Saturday night, after working hours of the day.

Mr. P. J. Cashman, chairman of the railroad committee of the local Travelers' Protective Association, stated yesterday morning that it would be the duty of the association to make the excursion one of the best that ever left Atlanta. "Tickets," he said, "will be sold only to those who are furnished with a card of recommendation from the association, and in this way all undesirable persons would be kept from the excursion. No intoxicated persons will be on the train, and the excursion will be under the personal supervision of the committee on arrangements. Mr. Robinson, who will accompany it, will see to it that the sleeping cars will be put on as can be fixed. The excursion promises to be one of the best that ever left Atlanta, and the members of the Travelers' Protective Association are urging their friends to take the trip."

TO THE BANKERS' CONVENTION.

Captain Lowry Leaves Tonight To Attend the Annual Meeting.

Captain Robert J. Lowry leaves tonight for Detroit, Mich., to be present at the twenty-third annual convention of the American Bankers' Association. On Saturday a large party of Georgians will also leave to attend this convention, which will be in session the 17th, 18th and 19th of this month.

Several Atlanta bankers will be in the party that leaves Sunday, while fifty or sixty members of the association throughout the state will be on the special train.

This twenty-third annual meeting will be the largest and most auspicious in the history of the association. The membership has increased by the hundreds during the last year and there will be representatives from all the large cities throughout the country.

Captain Lowry, as president of the association, leaves in advance of the main Georgia party so as to be on hand to receive the delegates from the South, and will begin to arrive Saturday and Sunday.

The citizens of Detroit have spread themselves for the entertainment of the big meeting and every possible attention will be shown the visitors. The mayor and general council have undertaken a social program that has tempted many to go who were undecided.

"While the social features of the trip will be delightful, there is a considerable amount of business to be transacted, and a good deal of knowledge will be imparted to all who attend," said President Lowry yesterday.

Captain Lowry has worked earnestly for the association during his presidency and has enlisted many new members from this state, as well as other sections of the country. He has communicated with all the bankers and a number of new faces will be introduced into this great financial organization.

The following letter has been sent out to the prominent bankers of the country and has caused many representative financiers to join the American Bankers' Association:

"To the Banks and Bankers of America—Gentlemen: If you are not already members of the American Bankers' Association, you should join now and attend our twenty-third annual meeting, to be held at Detroit, Mich., on the 17th, 18th and 19th, instant. You will find it very interesting and profitable. Practicable subjects will be discussed; and among others will be Hon. Lyman Gage, H. Folger, controller of the currency, and every banker in the United States should be a member. It gives you protection in many ways. The membership is now larger than in the history of the organization, and the great amount of good work it is doing. The social features of Detroit meeting will be very interesting."

It is hoped that you will attend this convention, for I feel sure that you will find it a source of enjoyment to you. I am, yours very truly,

"ROBERT J. LOWRY, President."

T. P. A. EXCURSION TO TYBEE.

Saturday Night, August 21st, via Central of Georgia Railway—$3.50 Round Trip.

The T. P. A. excursion to Tybee Saturday night, August 21st, will be the grandest and most enjoyable excursion that ever left Atlanta.

Special train leaves Atlanta Saturday night, August 21st, at 8 p. m. Leaves Tybee, Ga., at 9 p. m. August 22nd. Two days on the beach. Special rates at hotels, fine fishing, bathing, and cool and refreshing sea breezes at Tybee. Tickets sold on Saturday from committee. The comfort of the excursion will be looked after personally. Leave your sleeping car berth in Atlanta from the committee or at Central of Georgia railway ticket office, No. 16 Wall street, and union depot.

AN ARRAY OF UNIQUE CASES: PEN PICTURES OF HUMAN NATURE

Judge Andy Has the Most Wonderful Lot of Queer People Before Him He Has Ever Tried—Men, Women and Boys Present Some Rare Specimens of Human Nature at One Session of the Court.

There was a wonderful array of queer prisoners before Judge Andy Calhoun in the police court yesterday afternoon. In this court, where the weak side of humanity is so forcibly shown up, there are always a few remarkable and interesting incidents, but yesterday afternoon the whole court appears to have been transformed into a collection of scenes from real life, which would do justice to any first-class comedy.

As also after case was called and each presented some new and laughable phase of human nature, Judge Calhoun turned to a Constitution reporter and said: "I have never seen such a queer session of this court before. It beats the record since I have been the recorder of Atlanta."

The wonderful record is given below:

A BOY'S ARTFUL DODGE.

When the first case called, a shock-headed white boy came from the prisoners' room smiling, and he winked mischievously at the guard as he passed him.

"That may seem mighty true," said the youngster, in a low and mysterious voice, "but I am wanted in Augusta for a serious crime. I escaped from the chain gang over there and am wanted for six months."

"So you want me to send you over to Augusta, do you?" asked the recorder. "Yes," was the reply, and it is your solemn duty to your country, judge, to do so."

"Well," was the unexpected reply of the court, "I will send you to Augusta as soon as you have finished serving your time in our nice little stockade."

Johnny looked at the judge quizzically for a moment and then smiled as blandly as the Lashen Chinese as he bowed himself out.

DAMON AND PYTHIAS.

Before the bar of Justice David George Curtright and Henry Heard, two of those wanderers in a modern Egypt whom Bishop Turner wishes to lead into a new land of Canaan.

It was certain that the two men had engaged in a hot fight, for Heard bore the marks from the savage thrust of a knife. Somebody had tried to carve him like a "possum" and somebody was "curried." Several witnesses swore that the men had "fought like cats and dogs."

But when they appeared in Judge Andy's court, neither would open his mouth to speak. They had, in the privacy of their prison cell, agreed to play the "Damon and Pythias" racket, and stuck to their agreement.

"Both of you are guilty, and I am certain that if you would tell me the truth, I could set each of you free. Now, do you know what I am going to do? I will fine each of you $5.75."

Like a flash both then opened their mouths to speak, but the judge waved them silently away, with the exclamation: "You are both just a pair of minutes too late."

MADE A WILD THROW.

Jimmy Brooks, a negro youth of respectable appearance, undertook to toss a ball over the fence of the Wild Eagle baseball club and was a star pitcher.

He threw a few rocks with unerring accuracy and the other boys ran in, and himself by dodging. Every time Jimmy tossed a geological specimen he would exclaim: "Slide, Kelly, slide!"

It so chanced that Policeman Petty was coming down a side street, and as he turned the corner where the rock game was in progress, Jimmy tossed one of his toys. He had put a curve onto it and it whirled swiftly through the air and tapped the ventilator helmet on the tip of where the ventilator towers up temptingly.

The average Atlanta policeman would not be so quick to connect anything else with the cupola of his sombrero. He has become touchy and suspicious about the crowning piece of his headgear.

The ball, however, had been run in, and when he appeared before the tribunal of small crimes and light offenses he made no plea save that he had only 75 cents in his pocket, and he begged to be let off.

The statement in open court that he meant no disrespect to the officer's ventilator, he was let off.

BOUQUETS FOR THE BOYS.

Vice President Finley Says Passenger Department Is All Right.

For two or three months rumors have been afloat connecting Mr. Charles Scull's name with first one position and then another on various roads. These reports did not emanate from Mr. Scull, he said, but they just grew. One of the verities was that he had been made passenger traffic manager of the Southern railway. Another report had it that he was to take a similar position on the Seaboard, and finally it was suggested that maybe he would be made joint passenger traffic manager for both systems. It was another case of the black crow.

On Monday, Mr. John Leonard of the New York Mail and Express, asked Mr. W. W. Finley, second vice president of the Southern, in regard to the report connecting Mr. Scull's name with that system.

"I have great respect for Mr. Scull's ability as a general passenger agent," said Mr. Finley, "but there has been no negotiation looking to his entrance into our service. Our passenger department is well officed and we have no intention of making any change or of creating any new office."

Third Vice President Webb has denied the report that Mr. Scull is going with the New York Central as passenger traffic manager. However, it is starting these rumors evidently has a grudge against the amiable gentleman who was for years general passenger agent of the Baltimore and Ohio.

W. B. Bradley Resigns.

General Freight Agent W. B. Bradley, of the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern, has resigned to take effect September 1st. He will be succeeded by J. E. W. Fields, who comes from Texas. The office of the general freight agent will continue to be at Marietta. Mr. Bradley is reported to have accepted another position.

Railway Notes.

Mr. W. H. Thomas, master mechanic of the Southern, was here yesterday.

The Norfolk and Western has made some wonderful savings in expenses since its reorganization. President Fink says that was left off with costs of court, which sized his pile with a nicety.

A FRIEND IN "NEED."

Eddick Hill, painter by trade, undertook to do some painting in the city that was entirely too red to suit Policeman Jones. Hill appeared before the police court judge, and when he attempted to plead not guilty, the judge eyed him keenly and replied:

"You needn't say anything, your nose gives you away."

When the recorder entered a fine of $3 and costs, a man in the audience came forward and walked up to the judge's rostrum and whispered:

"Mr. Hill is a nice fellow, but he is strapped. Just let him off and he will bring you the money in a few days."

Patrolman Martin, who was standing very near the judge's stand, heard the whispered petition, and he arose and exclaimed:

"If your honor please, there is an old case here against a man who is talking to you." Then the friend in need was freed himself, and he said to the judge: "Mr. Hill" went to the stockade for seven days and as many stony nights.

CHASED HER SWEETHEART.

When the name of Hettie Luchins was called by the recorder from his docket, a pretty young woman walked from the prisoners' room. She wore a pink sun-bonnet and her cheeks were as pink as the ribbons that tied it.

"What a pity for such a pretty girl like that to come into this court," was Judge Andy's remark, and there is a continual stream of people to the office.

Major Slaton stated yesterday that it was impossible to state yet whether or not the schools would be crowded this year. On account of the fact that a committee from the board of education had under consideration the changing of the boundaries, the people had been later than usual this year in obtaining tickets for their children.

Major Slaton said that every child that applies for a ticket to the public schools is required to furnish him with a certificate from a physician to the effect that the child has undergone a successful vaccination, unless this certificate is furnished, the ticket of admission will not be issued.

Last year every child in the schools was successfully vaccinated, and Major Slaton says that none will be admitted this year unless such is the case with them. He says it would hardly be possible for smallpox to get into the schools. He urges the parents to come for admission tickets at once and not wait for the last moment.

A BUNCH OF CURIOSITIES.

J. A. Thallon, for the first time in his life, got full. When approached by two officers he refused to "go along" peacefully, and when arrested he threatened to put another policeman where Albert was. He was fined $1.75.

H. H. Willes was trying to take Thallon home and was also arrested, it being discovered that it was a case of the blind leading the blind. For trying to help a friend when he was himself in need of a guide Willes was given a fine line of $3.75.

W. M. Wilkin, a negro with a ugly countenance as ever looked up at a judge on a bench, got drunk. He got drunk because he was mad and he was mad because he had not been allowed to visit his brother in the stockade. He was sent to visit his brother for ten days.

Matthew Atkinson, an elegantly dressed white man, was in the court for "drinking and loitering." Atkinson showed that he was at the Mitchell street crossing at a late hour for the purpose of waiting for a train to Florida. Atkinson looked an English tourist and this probably saved him, as the recorder is said to have a weakness for tourists with light whiskers.

The road is not being "skinned" by the management, but is only a sound and stable basis and is being kept physically.

J. T. Blair is the new general manager of the Colorado and Northwestern, a line between Boulder, Colo., and Salt Lake City.

E. B. Lane has been appointed general freight agent of the Seaboard, a line between Norfolk, Va., and Norfolk, Va.

M. C. McNamara has been appointed traveling agent of the Continental Dispatch with headquarters in Louisville.

Passenger and freight earnings on the Chicago and Northwestern decreased more than $1,000,000 in the last fiscal year. There was a decrease of 1.3 per cent in the number of passengers carried. The decrease in quantity of freight handled was 3.7 per cent.

J. A. Jordan has succeeded S. W. Champion as general manager of the Green Bay and Western.

A. E. Robbins has been appointed superintendent of the Buffalo division of the Erie railway, and will have a superintending office on the Hocking Valley.

The Kansas cattlemen are protesting against paying freight on their cattle by weight. They have been paying by the carload but the railroad is starting to charge that practice and gone to weighing. The cattlemen of Greenwood county have appealed to the state railroad commission to forbid the roads changing their old practice. The cattlemen have evidently been crowding more cattle into cars than ought to have been put in them.

The Morristown and Cumberland Gap train from Knoxville to Tate Springs, has been taken off because the cars are not business enough to justify its running.

Assistant General Freight Agent Cheatham, of the Seaboard, was in Norfolk yesterday.

General Passenger Agent T. J. Anderson, of the Seaboard, left yesterday with the excursionists for Ironsboro. He had with him extra sleepers and an extra coach loaded with them.

GETTING SCHOOLS READY FOR PUPILS

They Will Be in Fine Shape When Day of Opening Arrives.

MANY TICKETS ARE ISSUED

Not Known Yet Whether or Not the Schools Will Be Crowded.

ALL THE CHILDREN MUST BE VACCINATED

Unless They Are Major Slaton Will Not Issue Tickets of Admission to Them.

When the first Monday in September arrives and the school children return to their studies they will find their schoolrooms clean and neat and the school buildings will be in excellent condition. The stoves will be in place and everything will be in readiness for another school year.

Superintendent Slaton now has the work of preparing for the opening of the schools well under way, and when the time comes everything will be ready. Men are at work putting up the stoves, while others are at work getting the schoolrooms in shape and making what repairs are necessary.

During the summer a few changes were made in some of the school buildings, but no very material changes were made. One or two of the schoolhouses were given a fresh coat of paint and others were given the necessary repairs.

Superintendent Slaton is very busy at present issuing tickets of admission to the children who will enter the schools this year. A large number of tickets are issued every day and there is a continual stream of people to the office.

Major Slaton stated yesterday that it was impossible to state yet whether or not the schools would be crowded this year. On account of the fact that a committee from the board of education had under consideration the changing of the boundaries, the people had been later than usual this year in obtaining tickets for their children.

Major Slaton said that every child that applies for a ticket to the public schools is required to furnish him with a certificate from a physician to the effect that the child has undergone a successful vaccination, unless this certificate is furnished, the ticket of admission will not be issued.

OLD VETS CHARGED UPON KENNESAW

Reunion of Cobb's and Phillips's Legions There Yesterday.

GREAT CROWDS WENT OUT

Barbecue and Speech Making the Order of the Day.

W. B. LOWE WAS MADE PRESIDENT

He Was Elected to the Head of Cobb's Legion—How the Day Was Spent There Yesterday.

Great was the gathering of old veterans who came to attend the reunion of Cobb's and Phillips's legions yesterday at Kennesaw. Great were they in numbers, for it was estimated that a thousand were there; great was the oratory, and great was the barbecue feast spread out on the hillside.

The day was a notable one in the history of the organizations. When ranks were broken last night the old vets gathered at the station and gave the rebel yell right lustily. The Phillips legion, which was the guest of the Cobb legion, gave cheers for the brave survivors who entertained them, and back came the yell from the Cobb legion.

The first charge on Big Shanty, or Kennesaw, was made at an early hour in the morning, and was in the nature of a cavalry attack, for those who came drove up or rode from the surrounding country, but the main body of the army came from Marietta and Atlanta, making a joint attack upon the town, taking it in quick style.

The people of Kennesaw capitulated without even a show of arms, and instead of bayonets they presented barbecue, made after the most approved style of the 'cue artists. The day was fully enjoyed, and when ranks were broken the sentiment was unanimous that the reunion of 1897 was a huge success.

W. B. Lowe President.

Before the social features of the day were entered into the organization met for the purpose of transacting their regular routine business. For Cobb's legion, W. B. Lowe was elected president. The physical condition of Mr. Lowe has not been such of late years as would enable him to gather with his old comrades, but he has always shown a keen interest in the reunions, and until he was prevented, attended all gatherings. The record of Mr. Lowe in Cobb's legion was conspicuous, and he was always known as an officer of cool courage and daring.

J. C. Huff, who for the past year has been president of the legion, was named vice president, and William Mitchell, secretary.

After the business session was finished came the speech-making, and from a stand in one of the pavilions the orators were introduced. Speeches were made by H. H. Smith, of Atlanta; J. Hawbrick, Richard Harris, J. C. Huff, W. A. Starnes and Colonel Charles Phipps.

Other informal addresses were made, and altogether, this feature of the day was most interesting.

Miss Scott has issued invitations to a car party for next Thursday evening, August 18th.

Miss Elizabeth Powell, who has been the guest of the Misses Stephens, will return soon to her country home.

Mrs. Anna Adams, of Florida, passed through the city this week en route to Tugalo valley.

Colonel and Mrs. T. B. Neal leave the latter part of the week for the bankers' convention, Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Tom Williams and family left yesterday for Tugalo valley, where she will spend several weeks.

Miss Marjorie McCall will have as her guest a few days Miss Ellerbe Holt, of Selma, Ala.

Miss Della Akers has gone to Washington, New York and Virginia on an extended trip.

Mrs. C. S. Clay and son passed through Atlanta yesterday en route to Nashville and Colorado Springs.

Mrs. P. L. Mynatt and Miss Alice Mynatt are the guests of Miss Annie Raine Mynatt, on Peachtree street.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren of Florida, are the guests of the family of Major Warren, at Kirkwood.

Bishop Weed, of Florida, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Z. D. Harrison, at their beautiful suburban home.

Miss Sarah Hawkes has returned from the mountains of North Carolina and Mount Airy.

Dr. and Mrs. Baird, and the Misses Sisson, have arrived in New York City after a delightful sea voyage by way of Savannah.

The regular yearly normal class of the public school teachers will meet this year the week preceding the opening of the schools, September 6th.

Miss Annie L. Taylor, of the staff of The Norfolk Virginian, is the guest of Miss Robinson, Miss Taylor is one of the cleverest little newspaper women in the south.

Dr. S. W. Foster and wife returned to the city yesterday from a trip to Old Point Comfort, Baltimore and other places of interest.

Mrs. Henry S. Wright and children, Kathleen, Marie Louise and Lucius Featherstone Wright, are visiting relatives in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. A. McD. Wilson left for the north some days ago, where they will spend a few weeks in visiting New York, Boston, Baltimore and other points of interest.

Among the recent arrivals at the Hotel Brunswick, Mrs. George, Mrs. Miss Maud Smith, Miss Mary Lou Smith and Mrs. Churchill Johnston and children, of Atlanta, Ga.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union meets this afternoon. Among the features of the meeting will be the reading of the brilliant address on "Hereditry," made by Mrs. Patton at the mothers' congress last winter, and published in last Sunday's Constitution.

Misses Willie and Jessie Reid gave a delightful car ride last night in honor of their friend, Miss Alice Johnson, who is visiting here. The members of the party were, Misses Lucy Cobb and students of the University. They were Misses Willie Burke, Adelaide Howell, Eliza Chisholm, Ella Pape, May Maddox, Emma Belle Lowndes, Ann Holbe, Belle Scott, Messrs. Charles Brock, Arthur Clarke, Burton Clarke, Frank Howard, Ed. J. Taylor, Mrs. J. W. Taylor, Mrs. A. D. Bryan, Annellie Wright, Albert Collier, Rawson Collier, Mauder Goldsmith.

Professor R. L. Northcutt tendered his many friends and patrons a farewell party at the Elwood, Marietta, Tuesday evening. The German was a decided success. Among the dancers were Miss Annie Cave, Miss Maggie Fletcher, Atlanta; Miss Nellie Johnson, Miss Glenn, Atlanta; Miss Skellie Dick, Knoxville; Miss Olla Chase, Houston, Tex.; Miss Bertie Armstrong, Miss Whitcomb, Miss Julia McCulloch, Miss Hunt, Miss Lucy Brumby, Miss Jennie Gibbs, Miss Lela Leake, and Mr. R. L. Northcutt. The youngest Methodist preacher in the state, preached a very interesting sermon last night, after which several went to altar prayer. Mr. Clarke is temporarily in charge of the mission and is doing great good. Tonight at 8 o'clock Rev. Sam C. Dean will preach. All are cordially invited to attend.

BIG CHANGES IN WEATHER BUREAU

Observer Krichelt Goes to Washington This Week.

HIS SUCCESSOR NOT NAMED

Two Men May Be Sent Here To Take His Place.

ALL THE OTHER OFFICIALS WILL REMAIN

Mr. Krichelt Has Been Weather Observer in the Local Bureau for Nearly Four Years.

Important changes have been made in the local weather bureau at the custom house. Weather Observer F. W. Krichelt, who has for nearly four years occupied that important position under the government at Atlanta, has been promoted to a higher position and will leave this week for his new assignment.

Mr. Krichelt's successor has not been named, but it is expected that he will be sent here in time to relieve Mr. Krichelt before the 15th. This change brings about a general shuffling up of the weather bureau. Mr. Marbury, the local forecast official, will remain, as will Mr. McDonald.

Two men may be sent here to take Mr. Krichelt's place. The bureau is entitled to another man, but for some reason the three officials here have been made to attend to all the duties. They have worked very hard and have done a great deal of work by working over hours. Since the government printing office was established in the weather bureau the department has had considerable more work to do and the employment of a printer does not even up to the work to the normal duties of the position.

Mr. Krichelt will go to Washington, where he accepts a higher place in the weather and crop service headquarters. He will have only six hours' work in Washington and will be paid a better salary than here. Washington is his old home and his parents and family live there. He came here from Washington nearly two years ago and has been in the office as observer since that time. He has worked with Mr. Hunt and Mr. Marbury and has proved himself to be a very capable official. The officials in the custom house express great regret that Mr. Krichelt is to leave. He has won many friends during his residence here and has made himself very popular in his place as observer.

The weather service will be changed by Mr. Krichelt's transfer, but the observer officials hope to get as good a man to take the observer's place. The headquarters have not yet announced a man for the place. Mr. Krichelt was notified of his new place early yesterday morning.

PERRY'S WIFE MAKES APPEAL.

SHE BEGS GOVERNOR TO HAVE MERCY ON HER HUSBAND.

Tells the Details of the Alleged Assault Made by Lanier—No Hope for Perry.

Mrs. H. S. Perry, wife of the man who will be hanged by the neck on Wednesday morning, has called on the governor and begged him to spare the life of her husband.

Mrs. Perry told the governor nothing new, but simply tried to work upon his sympathies for her husband's benefit. She made the same statement to the governor that she had made to a reporter months ago and to numerous other people. It was simply the old story of the alleged assault upon her by Lanier, who told the governor every detail of the alleged assault, and said that, while she disliked to talk of it, she thought it nothing but just that he should know everything about the crime which she claims Lanier committed.

Mrs. Perry was accompanied to the governor's office by her father. She said that the formal appeal for a pardon and commutation would be made by Perry's attorneys tomorrow, but she was so nervous and excited over the matter that she could not wait so long, and wanted to go yesterday and appeal to him to have mercy on her condemned husband.

While Governor Atkinson refuses to say anything about what he will do in the matter, one thing is certain—he will not order in the case a pardon and commutation. The governor regards the case as a legal matter, and not as a sentimental affair. He will know everything about the crime which she claims Lanier committed, and he will decide the case as he sees fit. The case will be presented to the governor tomorrow.
